TIME AND TIDE

TUPPERCHEF™ Inspire Cookware combines the best of technology with the highest quality stainless steel to deliver this new cookware that allows for less time, energy, water and oil to be used in cooking. Conventional cooking that uses water strips nearly 50 per cent of the food's nutritional value, resulting in less healthy meals. This cookware is hence designed to retain 98 percent nutrients present in your food, resulting in juicier, more nutritious dishes infused with natural flavours. As less or even no oil is needed when cooking with the TUPPERCHEF™ Inspire Cookware, not much effort needs to be expended in the kitchen cleaning up grease, creating more leisure time together with loved ones.

Available at 85 Defu Lane 10, #01-00, Tel: 6285 3988 or through an independent TUPPERWARE Brands Consultant at various hubs.

A SLICE OF MAGIC

According to studies by independent market research, it is important to consumers that mixing wands have an ergonomic design that sits well in the hand and has a balanced centre of gravity; easy to reach and operate buttons, and the handle be made from non-slip materials. Bosch ErgoMixx Hand Blender satisfies all these criteria, creating the best ergonomic mixing wand for both large and small hands, and right-handed and left-handed people. With the option of 12 speed settings for various types of food preparation, consumers can now conveniently prepare all sorts of food with this handy kitchen device. Also, instead of the two-blade knife, the blender now has a stainless steel QuattroBlade — a four-blade knife that allows for a more effective way to puree pestos and soups or chop herbs.

Bosch is offering discounts of its range of food preparation appliances until 5 Jan 2014. For more information, visit www.bosch-home.com.sg.

POWER UP

Known for the stylish appliances that aid in culinary perfection, Miele has launched yet another revolutionary technology with the new Generation 6000 PureLine range. Distinctive design features include stainless steel elements and new colours such as Obsidian Black and Havana Brown. Predestined for use on models with a large-volume cabinet, the exclusive MultiSteam technology on the new Miele steam ovens allows for water from the tank to be pumped into a powerful steam generator located behind the inner cabinet. This results in incredibly short heat-up durations, and uniform distribution of steam also paves the way for perfect gourmet results. CupSensor is another key feature of the new flagship built-in coffee machines. The height of the spout can be automatically adjusted to the size of cup, virtually eliminating all mess of spluttering of milk and coffee splashes.

Available for viewing on 6 November at Miele Gallery, 167 Penang Road, #B1-01 Winsland House II, Tel: 6735 1191.
